ADVISING APPOINTMENT

REVIEWING YOUR SCHEDULE

While at Summer Orientation, you'll meet one-on-one with an academic advisor from your academic college or school. We encourage you to navigate this advising appointment independently as an opportunity to take ownership of your academic experience.

Mercer receives official Advanced Placement scores and dual enrollment courses during July and adds these scores to students' records upon receipt. Adjustments to students' class schedules are made based on course credit awarded for acceptable scores. You will have the opportunity to review your fall course schedule again with your advisor at Bear Beginnings in August.

PLACEMENT EXAMS

Exams can only be taken once.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

If you studied a particular language for two or more years and wish to exempt your College or School's foreign language requirement or desire to continue studying this language, take the foreign language placement exam at Summer Orientation. Students who place at the 112-level or higher will earn institutional credit hours toward graduation for each course below their placement level.

Note: The School of Engineering, Tift College of Education, and the College of Health Professions do not have a foreign language requirement.

MATH

For students who submitted an ACT or SAT score, Mercer has calculated a Math Index to place you in an appropriate math class. If your current placement does not meet the needs of your anticipated major, then you have the option to take the thirty-minute math placement exam at Summer Orientation as an alternative means to place into your desired math course. Students who are placed into calculus or chemistry do not need to take the placement exam. Students who were admitted without submitting ACT or SAT scores are required to take the math placement exam. Students majoring in biology may also need the placement exam. The highest level placement you can achieve via the Math Index or math placement exams is MAT 191 (Calculus I).

bookstore@mercer.edu | (p) 478.301.2945

In many cases, you will leave Summer Orientation with your fall course schedule. Although this schedule could change, we recommend reserving your books early before returning to campus in August. You can view your textbooks on your MyMercer account and locate the "Barnes & Noble" tile on the homepage. Students will be able to start reserving their books 30 days before classes begin every semester.

BEAR BOOK BUNDLE

Mercer's Bear Book Bundle conveniently includes all required course materials and textbooks for our undergraduate students. All eligible students are automatically enrolled into this cost savings program and it will be included in your tuition bill statement. The program is based on a flat rate per credit hour with expected student savings of 30-50% off standard retail rates! For example: In 2024-2025 a student enrolled for 15 credit hours would pay around $360 for all required textbook materials. Should a student not wish to participate in our cost savings program, they can opt out 30 days before classes begin until the last date of "add/drop".

All new students have the opportunity to continue a Mercer tradition of participating in the Summer Reading and Essay Contest. Keep an eye on your email for more details about the selected readings from the Mercer Reader.
